HILLES WRITES OPEN LETTER

Republican Manager Attacks Tariff Plank in Democratic Platform.

New York, Oct. 23.—Chairman Hilles, of the Republican National Committee, to-night issued an open letter addressed to Governor Woodrow Wilson in which he says in part:

"The platform of your party on the tariff this year is extremely destructive and disturbing. This is what the Democratic party says to the people: 'We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal government under the Constitution has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of government honestly and economically administered.'"

"This platform declaration by your party unquestionably means that having been baffled in their many attempts to convince the American people that protective duties were not good for them on economic grounds, your party now abandons the appeal to economics and drags in the Constitution in their assault on protection. This position is revolutionary."

Protection Long Accepted.

"For a hundred years protective tariff duties have been accepted as constitutional. To have them declared unconstitutional now would be suddenly to stop and dismantle the wheels of progress in our country, and leave only uncertainty and weakness where there had been confidence, enterprise, and strength. This would be a deplorable economic revolution and retrogression."

"Yet you and your candidacy stand upon this platform declaration. You apparently accept and endorse it. You must do so unless you clearly reject it. Do you repudiate it? If you do not you must be reckoned with as a free trader seeking to have all protective tariff duties outlawed. This is a position which seriously threatens the security and prosperity of the country."

"The actions of the Democratic party, rather than their words, show us what we have to expect from them. The platform of this party in 1908 promised a gradual revision of duties if the party should be entrusted with power. By the elections of 1910 they were entrusted with power in the House of Representatives which originates tariff bills. The party hastened to use its power. Did it attempt gradual or systematic revision of the tariff? By no means. They forced through a series of tariff bills constituting a hasty, piecemeal revision—no revision at all, but a crude, slapdash and reckless slashing of duties, involving many very heavy reductions and the placing of many articles on the free list at one bound and against every dictate of reason and justice."

Disastrous to Industries.

"Could anything be more unfair and disastrous to the industries and workers all over the country engaged in making the articles thus suddenly deprived of all protection? Thousands of small industries were thus forced without warning to close their doors. It would have been, in fact, even harder and more unfair than general free trade would be."

"The threatened injury would be had enough at any period. It is doubly dangerous now. For at this time competition from the advanced nations of Europe for the American markets is becoming more and more serious. And an even greater danger to our industrial welfare is looming up. The great awakening of the Japanese and Chinese people, accused heretofore of being without adequate information of the business situation to be affected thereby."

ANOTHER BUNCO GAME.

Police Gather in Frank Viets, Who Says He Is a Collector.

Frank S. Viets, thirty years old, a collector who says he lives at 636 F Street, Southwest, was arrested last night on a charge of false pretenses, the police alleging that the prisoner is an exponent of the newest "bunco game" operated in Washington.

Viets agreed to collect some bills for Goodman Kammowitz, of First and N Streets Southwest, and, after a lapse of several days, reported that he had collected a bill, it is alleged. Viets gave a check for the bill and was given several dollars' commission by Kammowitz, it is charged.

According to the allegations of the police, the check was worthless.

WASHINGTON MAN WEDS.

William F. Holtzman Married to Miss Katherine Bonnie.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 23.—One of the most beautiful weddings of the fall was that of Miss Katherine W. Bonnie and Mr. William Frederick Holtzman, of Washington, which took place this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bonnie, in Cherokee Road.

Rev. James Marshall Owens, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the families. Miss Dorothy Bonnell was sister of the bride, and only attendant, and Mr. Britton Browne, of Washington, was best man.

Secretary of Navy Back.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer returned to Washington yesterday for a brief stay. He held conference with various heads of the department. The Secretary expressed himself as highly pleased with the mobilization of the fleet in New York and asserted that this should be made an annual event.

THOUSANDS FALL AS TURKS GIVE GROUND

ceived a message to the same effect to-night. The town of Serbia is about forty miles north of the Greek frontier and twenty-five miles southwest of the Turkish stronghold of Saloniki.

Services Before Uskub.

The Serbian forces are reported from Sofia as still fighting before Uskub. Another and smaller force, operating to the southward, has taken several small towns in Southern Albania, these defeated Turks also fleeing to the Greek frontier. These reports indicate that the Serbian and Greek forces will meet within a few days.

A Bulgarian force, which hitherto has continued fighting to the war, is reported from Sofia as having invaded Turkey along the shores of the Black Sea and taken the towns of Vasiliko and Tirnovo. It is marching on the important town of Varna. Another Bulgarian force is forcing its way southward along the course of the River Struma. The government at Constantinople continues to deny the authenticity of all reports by the allies, but the denials are very plainly not based on authentic information.

Capital Greeks Leave for War

To take up arms against their old enemy, the Sultan of Turkey, twenty-five Washingtonians left the city last night. They will proceed directly to New York and will sail Friday or Saturday for Athens.

Their leaving raises an interesting point in international law: whether the government will be called upon to stop American citizens from leaving this country to war against Turkey, a friendly power. Thousands have sailed for the southern coast since war clouds first appeared and it is thought probable that Turkey may voice a protest. No word has been heard in the State Department, however, and the official story is that the volunteers are not prepared to venture a guess as to what course Turkey would take or what would be done by the United States in case she did enter protest.

The party that left last night were: H. Sambus, G. Calanalis, B. Malenitis, A. Brokos, A. Crendakis, M. Anastas, A. Supperopolis, L. Colos, D. Costellos, S. Asimopoulos, F. Costas, C. Pavas, N. Matrasas, G. Killa, H. Boroa, R. Georgia, E. Brokohama, L. Giorgio, T. Calmas, G. Dennis, K. Anastas, G. Kolokostas, G. Billasios, A. Kostasopoulos and Alex. Liampolis.

TURKS, DEMORALIZED, FLY BEFORE BULGARIANS

London, Oct. 23.—William Maxwell, the Daily Mail's special correspondent at the Bulgarian army headquarters at Stara-Zagora, telegraphs as follows:

"Official reports which we are still dependent continue. The Bulgarians are advancing in several columns and the surprised and demoralized Turks are fleeing. Roads have been reached after the occupation of the regions of Reagor, between the Struma and Mesta rivers, and Tamrus. The enemy fled panic-stricken, leaving 100 dead on the field. The Bulgarians took 100 prisoners."

"The movement on Adrianople also proceeds. Several points have been occupied after lively fights, in which the enemy were repulsed after the capture of the town of Buzurjane. The Bulgarians are now in the town of Buzurjane, leaving 100 dead on the field. The Bulgarians took 100 prisoners."

ENGLISH BATTLESHIP FLEET ORDERED TO SCENE OF WAR

London, Oct. 23.—The British third battlefleet squadron, now stationed off the coast of Portugal, is preparing to sail for the Mediterranean in order to watch the movements of the Eastern fleet. Among certain naval officers the feeling is strong that the powers yet will be drawn into the conflict.

As has been caused by the report that the Inspector general of the army, Sir John French, who is away on leave, has been recalled, but the report lacks confirmation.

TURKISH PRISONERS TAKEN.

Stara Zagora, Bulgaria, Oct. 23.—(Headquarters of the Bulgarian Army).—Several hundred Turkish prisoners arrived here to-day. They were treated with the utmost respect by the soldiery and the populace. The officer who brought the prisoners from the front said:

"We are thoroughly satisfied with the progress of the fighting. In all the principal engagements with the Turks we have gained substantial victories. The Bulgarian soldiers are elated over their successes and eager for the day when they can storm the gates of Constantinople."

SERBIANS TAKE TURKISH TOWN.

Nish, Serbia, Oct. 23.—A Serbian army under Gen. Zivkovich to-day captured the Turkish towns of Slenitza and Novi Bazar after severe fighting, in which many were killed on both sides. Both Serbians and Turks fought gallantly.

Holds Marriage Record.

Johannesburg, Oct. 23.—A Bantu tribesman has been discovered here who has forty-five wives. He is only thirty years old. He is believed to be the champion polygamist of the British Empire. His nearest competitor for the record has only twenty-eight wives.

WILSON DELIVERS SERMON IN CHURCH

Democratic Candidate Speaks from Pulpit of Trenton Congregation at Anniversary.

TEXT NOT FROM THE BIBLE

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 23.—Gov. Wilson contributed a distinct novelty to the campaign to-night when he delivered a sermon to the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Trenton at the 20th anniversary of the founding of the church. Dr. Wilson did not take his text from the Bible. It was more a moralizing sermon, and the text might have been taken from his own campaign policy, for the thought that he emphasized most was:

"Always be afraid of the man who is indifferent to his own success and certain of the success of the thing that he represents, stand out of his way, for he has behind him the thoughts of the Almighty."

The Rev. Dr. Henry Coleman Minton, pastor of the church, presided, and addresses were made by Frederick W. Donnelly, Mayor of Trenton, and St. Clair Shapley, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle.

Gov. Wilson spent the day quietly in Princeton. He posed for a stereoscopic photograph in the afternoon. Then he went for a walk, and one of the Princeton professors observed him going down the street alone and remarked that the Governor was "just walking around Princeton waiting to be elected President of the United States."

COUNSEL END ARGUMENTS IN BECKER CASE

man Rosenthal as if he fired the shot," said the prosecutor.

"It has been charged that our witnesses should not be believed. Can we select our witnesses? We must go to the seeking counsel where this defendant lives and moved. Becker is no better than the men who have been brought here to accuse him. They were his associates, and he ate with them and took his wife to eat with them, according to testimony given here, which will be impeached."

"Will Rosenthal Brain?"

Mr. Moss called attention to the identification of the gunmen by the witnesses Krause and Stanish. Morris Luban's testimony regarding the meeting of Rose and Becker at the Lafayette Baths, and the shooting of Becker's story of the movement of the assassins before and after the killing of Rosenthal.

Throwing up his hands, he said: "Oh, what the men, and after this we have nothing on this man."

"We should convict the will behind the brains, behind the gun."

"The guns would never have been directed against Rosenthal had it not been for the will behind the brains."

"It has been said that we entered into an agreement for a bargain and sale with these men, and after this case is over these men will be seen on Broadway. If we had not taken these three men as witnesses we would never have had a chance."

"Suppose," Mr. Moss said, "that a murderous feeling toward Rosenthal and Becker knew it."

"Look over the city and know that they have been feeling since three years ago that they are all times he was uncertain as to whether he should carry out Becker's orders, but sure that Becker urged him on by saying horrible things about the shooting of Rosenthal's own mouth. Presume, if you will, that these men did hate Rosenthal. Does that let Becker out?"

Talks of Schepps Part.

As to the charge made by the defense that during the course of the trial, Schepps was proved to be an accomplice to the murder, Mr. Moss continued:

"Schepps knew after the murder that Rosenthal had been slain as a result of a conspiracy organized by Rose at the instigation of Becker. Rose told Schepps when he deemed it the right time."

"Schepps hid Rose after the murder. He was not an accomplice but he was an accessory after the crime. This is a separate crime. It is not murder, and is punishable only as a separate crime."

FORBIDS BREWING OF TEA.

Treasury Department Closes Commotion Among Women Clerks.

The Treasury Department in its crusade for sanitary conditions has forbidden the brewing of tea in the building. Many of the women clerks during the noon hour used to brew their own tea and have a little something warm with their basket luncheon.

The new order caused terrible commotion among the tea drinkers and when pressure from them the Treasury officials have finally consented to set aside a room to which all of the tea tipplers may retire at the noon hour, each one to brew her little pot.

FRENZIED GERMANS WRECK SHOPS OF BUTCHERS WHO REFUSE TO SELL CHEAP MEAT

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The prolonged agitation throughout Germany for cheaper meat led to riotous disorders to-day when the first consignment of six car loads of cheap Russian beef were sent to municipal butcher shops by order of the German authorities.

These shops are recognizable by red window signs. The prices are fixed by the magistrates in conjunction with expert commissioners. No customer receives less than half a pound of meat or more than five. The butchers are not permitted to sell the meat and the restaurants. When the shops were opened the butchers struck, alleging that they were insufficiently paid.

Thousands of the poorest people who had been waiting all night became when they early to-day and wrecked dozens of shops, stole all the meat, trampled the butchers under foot, and bombarded the police with street refuse. Hundreds were injured.

Wilson Goes to Seashore.

Assistant Secretary of State Huntington Wilson left Washington yesterday afternoon for Atlantic City, where he will remain for several days.

FEDERALS TAKE VERA CRUZ; DIAZ MADE PRISONER

of the entire revolutionary movement, which centered in him.

Commander Hughes reported that the Federal forces had taken possession of the city of Vera Cruz. There was much fighting within the limits of the city, from 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning until after noon. Medical officers and assistants were sent through the city by Commander Hughes to give such assistance as might be possible. Consul Canada made essentially the same report, stating that Diaz, his staff, and most of his men had been captured and disarmed.

The news was a great surprise to officials of the State Department and officers of the army and the navy stationed at the department. From the very first Gen. Diaz has been picked to win. From purely military considerations it was regarded that he stood the better chance of success in a conflict with the Federal forces. His artillery alone, mounted advantageously outside the city, was expected to be sufficient to enable him to break up any Federal advance.

The general opinion here is that the defeat of Gen. Diaz is likely to mark the turning point in affairs in Mexico, and prove a great setback to Zapala, Orozco, Huasteca, and other rebels now in the field against the Madero government. Just as Mexico was ready to give itself to Diaz should he prove likely to be the winner, so now, it is declared, the who were ready to support him will turn from him. A revolution of sympathy in favor of the Madero government is expected to follow closely upon Diaz's defeat.

The Madero government will feel quickly and summarily with Gen. Felix Diaz, Col. Jose Ordaz, and the officers of the rebelling troops and marines at Vera Cruz was made manifest to-night when it was announced that the offenders will be held before a court-martial at once.

Orders were issued to-night for the convening of the court martial, which is to be presided over in all probability by Gen. Beltran, the commander of the Federal forces at Vera Cruz, and the general opinion is that the death penalty will be imposed.

REBELS MARCH ON DOMINICAN TOWN

Conditions Bad in Tiny Republic. Report State Department Officials—Much Graft.

That the revolution phase of the tangled situation in the Dominican Republic is growing more menacing was indicated here yesterday when the State Department received dispatches from Puerto Plata stating that Dominican rebels were advancing upon that city. An attack is expected at any moment.

It is probable that the gunboat Wheeling, which is now at Santo Domingo City, together with the "Prairie," which has 700 American marines on board, will steam around to Puerto Plata to insure the protection of American interests.

Anti-American feeling in Puerto Plata is said to be strong. The negotiations conducted by the American special commissioners, W. T. S. Doyle, of the State Department, and Brig. Gen. McIntyre, of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, are said to have aroused resentment among Dominican officials at Puerto Plata. It is understood that the American commissioners are insisting that the Dominican government eliminate officials responsible for maladministration of the public funds in various parts of the republic and other forms of dishonesty.

Recent advices indicate that the situation in the tiny republic is about as bad as could easily be imagined. Not only is there a revolution, which has forced the closing of the custom houses on the Dominican-Haitian frontier, but Haitian aggressiveness and an ancient boundary dispute have led to filibustering and other complications along the border. The Victorian government of the Dominican Republic is most unpopular, and the commissioners have found that the Dominican administration has been willfully violating its obligations under the treaty of 1907 between the Dominican Republic and the United States. Public funds have been diverted from their proper uses, and contrary to her treaty obligations, the government has secretly assumed financial obligations other than those covered in the treaty. Dishonesty and graft are said to permeate the government. It is understood that the soldiers and civilian employees have not been paid.

SALOON-KEEPER'S SLAYER IS CAUGHT

John Brown Hunt for Eighteen Months as Murderer of Andreas Viessmann.

Hunted as a murderer in numerous cities for eighteen months, John Brown, twenty-six years old, a negro waiter, accused of slaying Andreas Viessmann, forty-three years old, proprietor of a saloon at 301 H Street Northwest, is at last behind cell bars, according to the belief of the police.

Viessmann discharged Brown on the afternoon of May 13, 1911, and late that night Brown returned to the restaurant, demanded his salary and provoked a quarrel, it is alleged, which resulted in a mortal stab wound in Viessmann's neck. Brown fled, and after it was learned he had left the city, Detective Sergts. Burlingame and Weedon, of the "murder squad," were put on his trail.

Viessmann lay at Emergency Hospital for four weeks and then returned to his home. He remained in bed at his home until September a year ago, but in January was able to walk about. A few months later his condition grew worse, and Viessmann died on May 19 last, just three days less than a year from the day he was stabbed. Brown was held for the action of the grand jury, and was indicted for the murder.

If Viessmann had lived three days longer, Brown would have been charged with manslaughter, as a man cannot be charged with murder unless his victim dies within a year after being injured. A reward of $100 was offered for the capture of Brown and on Sunday last Policemen Burr and Dowd captured a negro waiting giving the name of John H. Palmer in Detroit.

A photograph of Palmer was made and forwarded to the Washington police. This photograph, according to the police, was identical yesterday as a likeness of Brown. Detective Burlingame left last night for Detroit accompanied by a man who knew Brown for years and can identify him in a moment. Brown is six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. He was a stranger in this city at the time of the stabbing of Viessmann.
